Boston in New-England, June 1.

FIVE Days ago we had Dispatches from General Pepperill, who has the Command of the Expedition against Cape Breton, and Commodore Warren, the former of which advise, that he had raised a second Fascine Battery within Two hundred Yards of the West Gate of Louisbourg, which had beat down the Drawbridge, and begun to make a Breach in the Gate and Part of the Wall; that he had hoisted the Union Flag in the Enemy's Light-House, over-against the Island Battery; that the Enemy had bent their whole Force to drive them from the two Batteries erected against the West Gate, and had made a Sally against the Detachment posted at the Light-House, but were repulsed; and that a Prisoner informed them, that our Cannon and Mortars had done great Execution in the Town.

The Letters from Commodore Warren inform us, that he, in Company with the Mermaid, had taken a French Ship of War of 64 Guns and 560 Men, called the Vigilant, the Marquis de Fort Maison, Commander, bound from Brest to Louisbourg, with a great Number of small Cannon and Ordnance Stores. That he had also, in Company with one of our Cruizers, taken a second Ship with Provisions, bound from France to Louisbourg. That there was now a regular Blockade of Louisbourg both by Sea and Land, and that he had put the said Vigilant into Commission for his Majesty's Service.
